

Christmas Day

Soon it will be Christmas Day.

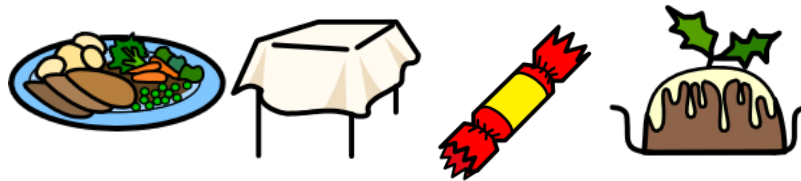

Christmas Day is a special day to some people and they like to celebrate.

My family are going to celebrate Christmas Day and lots of people are coming to our house.

We are going to have a special dinner with lots of different food.

We are going to have dinner at lunch time instead of in the evening.

There will be a lot of different food.
I might not like all of the food.
I don't have to eat all of the food. That is ok.

I can eat the food that I like.

Different people like different food and that is ok.

Special thanks to our autism expert, Jane Pidduck, for sending us this social story
